

NanoRepro AG • Untergasse 8 • D-35037 Marburg

NanoRepro AG is a highly innovative, market-listed company in the field of in-vitro diagnostics.

NanoRepro AG with its headquarters in Marburg (Lahn) is a company specialized in the development, manufacturing and international distribution of rapid home tests in different product lines (Family Planning, Preventive Healthcare, Allergy, Infectious Diseases).

These products address a fast-developing demand in the market, which is driven from the ever-growing medical awareness of the population and which will gain in a part of life-style in the coming years.

We are currently looking for a:

Part-time Working Student - Life Science (m/f)

▪ Technical Documentation

Job Summary

Contributing to the Regulatory Affairs and Quality Management Team in a flexible part-time position, the candidate will compile, update and maintain technical files of our products from different source documents, carefully preparing them according to existing internal templates to withstand accurate examination by national and international authorities during the registration processes.

We're looking for a motivated young professional, with a sound scientific background and the ability to focus on accuracy in content, formatting and grammar.

Duties & Responsibilities

- Compile, update and proof-read Technical Documentation
- Translate and compile Product Dossiers
- Scientific assistance with product development (literature research)

Job Requirements & Attributes

- Background in Life Science (Bachelor or Master student / degree)
- Good working knowledge of Microsoft Office
- Fluent in German and English
- Correct spelling and orthography
- Applicants are required to work on-site (approx. 15 hours per week) during office hours, the time schedule can be handled flexible according to the applicants' university curriculum

Interested?

Contact us via eMail with your application (starting date, CV, motivation letter)

Contact:

Martin von Rüden

Regulatory Affairs Manager

jobs@nanorepro.com